

Pharmaceutical preparation comprising a receptor antagonist for the treatment of blood coagulation disorders

A B S T R A C T

A pharmaceutical preparation for the treatment of blood coagulation disorders, characterized in that it contains at least one protein, selected from the group of pro-proteins of blood coagulation, and a coagulation physiologically inert receptor binding competitor, and its medical use are described.

09871580 010902